Dear Editor,

On my behalf of my co-authors I am submitting an article titled “Storm surges in the Strait of Georgia simulated with a regional model” for consideration for publication in Atmosphere-Ocean. This article presents research undertaken by scientists collaborating across Canada to produce a new regional ocean model of the Salish Sea. We believe that this topic is interesting and relevant to the readership of Atmosphere-Ocean, particularly those readers engaged in regional ocean modelling in Canada.

I look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely,

Nancy Soontiens
